A World of Poetry: Making Your Own with Sanna Peden (MWSP2)

Have you ever wanted to write poetry that creates a whole new world of its own? This workshop covers aspects such as setting and character and how to use these to create evocative worlds in verse.

The workshop includes writing prompts and exercises suitable for novice and established poets, as well as everyone in-between.

Sanna Peden

Sanna Peden is a lapsed academic and recovering writer with an interest in speculative fiction, poetry, research and performance. She has written extensively on cinema, memory and nostalgia in Finnish and English; her poetry has appeared in Cordite Poetry Review, Creatix and the 2016 Visible Ink Anthology. With over ten years of experience facilitating workshops, Sanna's emphasis is on allowing participants to experiment with new ideas and techniques in an engaging, interactive and supportive environment.
